

Officer Report

28 October 2024

The tree is situated in the rear garden of the host property and can be seen between the adjacent dwellings.

An inspection of the main stem of the tree reveals extensive bark, denudation, and necrosis that compromise the health and viability of the tree.

The tree is not viable in the long-term and should be felled to ground level for safety reasons.

Decision - No objection